

②

This image shows a handwriting practice sheet divided into seven horizontal rows. The first row features a solid, continuous sine wave. The subsequent six rows each contain a dashed sine wave, designed for tracing. The right half of the sheet is left blank, providing space for independent practice of the wave pattern.